CDPH WARNS OF POSSIBLE HEALTH RISK FROM CERTAIN FRESH CILANTRO

Date: 1/28/2011

Number: 11-005 Contact: Al Lundeen (916) 440-7652

SACRAMENTO Dr. Mark Horton, director of the California Department of Public Health (CDPH), today warned people not to eat certain fresh cilantro distributed by Tanimura & Antle because the cilantro may be contaminated with Salmonella. To date, no illnesses have been reported. Tanimura & Antle, based in Salinas, has issued a voluntary recall of its product.

The cilantro has been on store shelves since January 14. The cilantro was sold in bunches containing a white twist-tie printed with blue lettering. The twist-ties contain the words "Produce of USA, Cilantro #4889" and have a blue Tanimura & Antle logo adjacent to the UPC code 33383 80104.

Symptoms of Salmonella infection include fever, abdominal cramps, and diarrhea which may be bloody. Most infected people recover within a week. Some may develop complications that require hospitalization. Infants, the elderly, and people with weakened immune systems are at highest risk for more severe illness. People who develop symptoms of Salmonella infection after consuming cilantro should consult their health care provider.

While the contaminated cilantro may no longer be available in retail stores, CDPH is concerned that consumers may still have some in their homes. Consumers in possession of this contaminated cilantro should not eat it.

Consumers that observe the product being offered for sale are encouraged to report the activity to the CDPH toll-free, complaint line at (800) 495-3232.
